A Copy of the Blythe Will Found Here.

THE BEQUESTS IT DESCRIBES.

Florence Is to Have All the Estate, Over About Three Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Ex-Attorney-General W. H. Hart, of San Francisco, who arrived in this city on Saturday night, in search of the missing will of the late Thomas Blythe, the millionaire, returned to the North yesterday upon the 1:30 p. m. train, in order to be present this morning when Judge Coffey will resume the trial of the case now pending before him, in which his client, Florence Blythe, appears as the plaintiff against all other claimants to the estate. Contrary to expectation, however, he did not take the missing will with him, because in the first place the original was burned shortly after it was discovered in the apartments formerly occupied by Blythe, and also because the persons who claimed to have it, or rather a certified copy of it in their possession, were away from home when he called at their residence, which is some distance outside the city limits. Who these people are is known only to Mr. Hart and detective T. C. Metzler of this city who has been in the employ of the attorney for over five years past; and their identity is due in some degree to his persevering industry.

Mr. Hart positively refused to be interviewed yesterday morning before his departure for San Francisco, but admitted having a copy of the supposed will in his possession, although he had not seen the certified copy of the original which had been destroyed by fire.

It was learned from other sources after he had left the city that the document in question was supposedly written by Thomas Blythe about five years after his return from Mexico, and was found in Blythe's rooms by Alice Dickerson, his supposed wife, shortly after his death and placed in the hands of her friends, who notified Florence Blythe's attorney of its existence within twenty-four hours of the decision in the Sharon case. The terms of the entire will could not be ascertained for various reasons, but it is understood that the majority of the estate, valued at $4,000,000, is left to Florence Blythe, whose parentage is acknowledged. Florence's grandfather, Mr. Perry, is appointed her guardian, and Hon. M. M. Estee appears as one of the directors; and the presumption is that the document will be offered for probate in the near future. At the time at which the supposed holographic will was made Blythe himself estimated his estate at $250,000, of which he left $100,000 to benevolent societies in San Francisco; $10,000 to the Masonic lodge of which he was a member; and sums ranging from $500 to $20,000 to individuals and societies in the State, the residue being left to his daughter Florence. There are peculiar statements in the will which clearly establish its authenticity, but what these are could not be ascertainod. Mr. Hart stated that facts were contained in it which were only known to Blythe. The will also orders Florence to erect a handsome block of buildings upon the block bounded by Market, Geary and Dupont streets, and directs how the buildings shall be erected.

The Miss McLellan referred to in yesterday morning's HERALD as the teacher of Florence when in Europe, some three years ago, proves to be Mrs. McLellan, the wife of A. S. McLellan, of this city. She remembers her former pupil perfectly, as she was when at school at Northenden, in England, and her daughter, who is about Florence's age, was a playmate of hers when at school. She and her husband and daughter will prove important witnesses in the case.

THE POLICE MUDDLE.

Detective Glass Attempts to Take Charge of Affairs.

The interest excited by the action of the Police Commission Triplet in dismissing the head of the Police Department, has not abated since Thursday, but seems rather to have increased; and the fact that the Council approved the official bond of Detetective J. M. Glass, the appointee of the Triplet for the office of Chief of Police, is thought to confirm the statement that the Councilmen approve the dismissal of Burns.

The situation at the Police Station is still unchanged, though matters came to a crisis yesterday morning, and nothing but the prompt action of Captain Harris prevented what threatened at one time to become a serious meeting among the patrolmen and clerks. Just as the early morning watch was about to leave the station at 4 o'clock, the Chief elect, J. M. Glass, entered the office, and, addressing Sergeant Finucane, the officer in charge of the watch, demanded his reasons for disobeying the orders of the Triplet Commission in not reinstating Officer Fay, as instructed by him so to do. Finucane replied that he had been informed by Chief Burns and Captain Harris that Mr. Glass had not yet qualified as Chief of Police, and consequently had no authority to give any orders to the department. Mr. Glass then turned to Captain Harris, who referred him to the following written order issued on Saturday by Chief Burns to the Captain, Sergeants and Clerks.

"It is hereby ordered, and you are hereby notified, not to reinstate or remove any member of the police force of this city without notice from this office.
"J. F. BURNS,
"Chief of Police."

Mr. Glass, upon reading this, informed the Captain that he was authorized by the Police Commissioners to give instructions to the department, not as Chief of Police, for he had not yet qualified, but as the officer appointed by them to take charge of the office. Captain Harris refused to recognize any such authority and taxed Glass with trying to create a mutiny by stirring up the men to disobey their present Chief, Burns. He then addressed the watch, and informed them that the first man who disobeyed Chief Burns' orders would be discharged, and the squad was sent out to relieve the night watch. Mr. Glass also left, shortly afterwards, and did not again show up at the station during the day. On being informed subsequently by Captain Harris of this occurrence, Chief Burns addressed the day and night watches before going out on duty at noon and 8 o'clock last night, and informed every man on the force that unless he intended to obey his orders as long as he was at the head of affairs, he would be discharged. He said that up to the present time he had not received any intimation that he had been legally discharged and until he did he intended to hold his position; and in the meantime no one whatsoever had any right or authority to give any orders that did not emanate from his office. The Sergeants and men, without a single exception, listened to his speech respectfully, and at its close promised to obey his orders and none other as long as he remained at their head.

The Triplet will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the room of the Board of Public Works.

LIZZIE CHURCHILL.

She is Brought Back Home by Her Mother.

About six months ago the attention of the public was called to the conduct of an alleged doctor, named S. L. Churchill who deserted his wife and three small children, taking with him his step-daughter Lizzie, a remarkably pretty girl about sixteen years of age. He was several times locked up in the City Jail for drunkenness, and was finally allowed twenty-four hours in which to leave the city. He disappeared from his old haunts altogether, and Lizzie returned to her mother, who after a while succeeded in obtaining a home for her three younger children, and situations as domestics for herself and daughter. Everything went along peaceably and quietly until six weeks ago when Lizzie, in response to a letter from her stepfather, left her employer and went to Riverside. On hearing of this, her mother notified Humane Officer Wright, and a telegram was dispatched to the girl imploring her to return and leave Churchill. Lizzie paid no attention whatever to the message, and she was in doubt as to the best course to pursue, when Churchill himself came to Los Angeles for his step-daughter's trunks, which had been left at her former employer's house. After obtaining possession of this property he proceeded to get drunk, and in this condition called on his wife. Her employers, however, called in Officer Wright, and Churchill was once more locked up in the City Jail. While he was in jail his wife took the opportunity of going down to Riverside and brought her daughter Lizzie back with her, but the girl declares her intention of returning to live with him. Churchill claims that she is his own daughter, and that their relations towards each other are such as as they should be. Lizzie will be given one more chance to earn an honest living before going to the Reform School.

A Cool Burglar.

In response to a telephonic message received at police headquarters at half-past 9 o'clock on Saturday night, Detective Wallin was detailed to arrest a burglar who was said to be locked up in one of the rooms at the Ramona House. The detective was informed that a few minutes before he appeared, Dr. Parker, a dentist, entered his room, which was unlighted, and was surprised to find someone already there. Before the dentist could recover his equanimity, the stranger, in a deep, bass voice, said: "I am sorry that I was unable to keep my appointment this morning, Doctor, but I thought I would drop in and apologise." Dr. Parker intimated that no apology was necessary, and, turning his back upon his unknown guest, hunted round for a match with which to light the gas. When this was eventually accomplished he turned round to greet the stranger, but to his surprise found that he had left, and an investigation revealed the fact that about $35 worth of gold used in filling teeth was missing. As the doctor was utterly without any clue or possibility of identifying this nocturnal visitor, the services of the detective were called into requisition to recover the gold, but the chances of the detective's success in this direction are somewhat slim.

A Dangerous Sport for Boys.

The Southern Pacific people complain of a practice the small boys of the town have of riding on the trains of the company between the depots in this city. Naturally men do not like to proceed to extremities against small boys, and they often enjoy immunity from well-deserved punishment, because grown men are indulgent to them. But their bad habit will have to be stopped. As many as half a hundred of those foolish urchins at a time will crowd on the platforms and steps of a train to ride from Commercial street to the Arcade depot. It is a very dangerous pastime, and before many days some of their parents may suffer a severe shock on seeing the lifeless or mutilated form of their boy brought home after he has fallen beneath the cars and been run over. It ought to be a crime punishable by severe penalties for a parent to allow a boy to do a foolhardy thing like this. The company will be applauded if it dismisses all sentiment and good nature, and will lock up a batch of these little culprits who thus interfere with their business. It may save some of the boys' lives.

Mrs. Patterson's Story.

Yesterday afternoon a woman named Mrs. Patterson called at the police station and requested Humane Officer Wright to accompany her to her residence at the corner of Manhattan and Sutton streets for the purpose of arresting a woman for cruelty to a child. She stated that her little girl, who is about six years old, was playing close to the house when a neighbor picked up a hatchet, and, without any provocation, struck the child in the mouth with it, knocking out three of its front teeth. Officer Wright found that the person alleged to have committed this crime was a respectable married lady named Rieder, who lived close by, but on taxing her with it she informed the officer that she saw a little boy quarreling with the child, and after they had thrown rocks at each other for a short time he flung a broken saucer at her and struck her in the mouth with it. As several other people also saw the occurrence the officer determined to see the child, who was kept out of sight by the mother, and on gaining access to her she corroborated Mrs. Rieder's story in every detail.

BEAR VALLEY.

In the San Bernardino Mountains.

A GOOD VACATION RESORT.

How the Trip May Be Made—An Interesting Ride on Burro Back.

It is now the season of the year when the hard-worked business or professional man of the city decides that if he is going to take a vacation and recuperate for the labors of the year, he had better be about it. Having settled what are to a large majority the two most difficult problems, those of time and money, he tackles the question of where to go. In a district like Southern California, where there are always within sight high mountains, heavily wooded and threaded with cañon streams, with a stormless ocean near at hand, and a climate as reliable as the movements of the heavenly bodies, it would appear that the only perplexity with which one would meet would be that arising from an embarrassment of riches.

While the candidate for a vacation is making his preparations for the trip, digging up fish-hooks in the nail box, and shaking the spiders out of last year's boots, he discusses with his friends, whom he apprises of his wish to get away, the question of where he will find the most sport at the least cost and inconvenience. At such a time he will read with no small degree of interest an article like this, which proposes to describe a trip into the mountains over a route that has not become commonplace by too great popularity, where one can be sure of a good time at no great expense.

Everybody who lives in San Bernardino county knows that somewhere high up in the mountains there is a body of water known as Bear Lake, a large artificial reservoir held in by a small stone dam, one of the most remarkable pieces of engineering in the State. Many thousand acres of the best land in the county, that in the vicinity of Redlands, is almost wholly dependent upon this lake for the water which has redeemed it from a parched desert. Thus it happens very naturally that the lake has become a great point of interest to the people of this flourishing country, and is visited by thousands of them annually. Formerly it was necessary that those who made their way hither should go over from the desert by wagon and camp out in the valley. Since the erection of a hotel near the shore of the lake, and the great improvement of the trail from Redlands, the place has become more practicable as a summer resort. It was only during the last and the present season, however, that people from Los Angeles have in any numbers made their way into this beautiful region.

The trip is a long and in some respects a difficult one; while it scarcely contains an element of inconvenience to a strong man, it can hardly be recommended to invalids or timid ladies. Nevertheless a great many of both the latter classes make the trip. There is absolutely no danger to be apprehended to anyone who rides one of the animals provided by those who make a business of taking passengers over the trail. They are trained to the work, know every inch of the way and are seemingly incapable of making a false step. Anyone who takes it into his head, however, to ride a skittish horse and go by himself, would do well to patronize some one of the life insurance companies whose advertisements will be found in the columns of this paper.

There is a train which leaves Los Angeles on the California Central route early in the morning and gets into Redlands at 9 o'clock. Regularly on Mondays and Thursdays, Mr. Reeves, the liveryman, drives down to the depot with a comfortable coach, in which the first stage of the journey is made. These are the regular days for burro trains up into the mountains, but a party of three or four can always arrange to have the coach meet them at the depot, and can secure transportation into the mountains any day in the week. The coach goes either eight miles to Roberts' or eleven miles to Thurman's, which ever the passengers desire. It is a pleasant ride through a beautiful and picturesque country. Roberts' place, where the parties sometimes stop and take burros, is just at the opening of Mill Creek cañon. If one prefers to stick to the coach three miles further into the cañon, he will find the ride enjoyable, although the road is rather rough, frequently crossing a deep, roaring stream.

At Thurman's place the travelers eat dinner and take to the burros, or mules, or horses, whichever of the three are provided. Three men make a regular business of taking parties over the mountains—Roberts, Thurman and Jackson. They are all responsible men, who are very considerate of the comfort of those in their care, and are especially attentive to ladies who are inclined to be nervous in some places on the trail. Will Roberts, who makes the regular Monday and Thursday trips, has a drove of burros which can be easily induced to move with a club, and which are expert in the business of walking on the edge of a precipice without falling over.

The second stage of the trip is from Thurman's to Lewis' and it takes from four to five hours. The train threads along the cañon for some distance, and then begins to ascend the mountain. An altitude of 6,000 feet is reached and then the descent is made into the Santa Ana cañon. The distance from Thurman's to Lewis' is variously estimated from ten to twelve miles. It is a ride which for beautiful scenery can hardly be surpassed in Southern California.

At Lewis' during the summer there is usually quite a settlement of campers. In a pretty grove of elders and oaks between the mountains and the Santa Ana river, is a cluster of picturesque cabins which form the hostelry of Lewis and Townsend. One is sure of a good supper, an entertaining host and a bed where he is lulled to sleep with the sound of a mountain torrent dashing over the stones. The location is so perfect and the surrounding conditions are in every way so agreeable that many of the travelers in these mountains care to go no farther, and tarry here like lotus eaters until the large calendar, which Lewis has thoughtlessly hung up in the cabin, which serves as a salle a manger, calls him back to labor.

Supposing that one pushes on to the lake, he leaves Lewis' place the next morning after an early breakfast and climbs the next range of mountains—that is he climbs it by proxy on the burro. The distance to the hotel is about five miles, making a total of twenty-six miles or more from Redlands to the lake. The entire trip can be made in one day on horses which know the trail and are in condition to stand the strain. It is much pleasanter made as described above.

Two young men, Knight and Metcalf by name, have a very comfortable hotel in the valley, about half a mile from the lake. It is in the midst of a fine grove of great pines on ground which slopes down to the water. The scenery is ideal and at the first sunset one feels himself quite repaid for all the toil, which he has allowed his burro to execute for him.

The lake, which is about five miles long and a mile wide, lies along the valley in an east and west line, and at the lower or western end is the famous arched dam. There are now boats to be had, which the guests of the hotel—and for that matter campers also if they have cheek enough—enjoy gratis. There is also a sail boat, in which Gus Knight, who is one of the proprietors of the hotel, an expert rifle shot and a capital good fellow, delights to take everybody out for a ride.

At a short distance from Lewis', and at a somewhat greater distance from the hotel in Bear Valley, there is excellent fishing. There are in the proper season quantities of duck on the lake, and in the woods there is small game of various kinds. There is plenty of deer still to be found by those who have the energy to make a long tramp. These matters, and others, will be made the subject of a subsequent article in the HERALD.

A GREEN SASH.

Two Women Claim to be its Owner in Court.

Gus and Belle Williams, a young married couple of prepossessing appearance, appeared before City Justice W. C. Lockwood Saturday, for trial upon the charge of petit larceny, preferred against them by Mrs. Bessie McQuilkin, it being alleged that they had stolen several articles of wearing apparel and $25 in money from the Novel Restaurant on Main street on or about May 5th last. The testimony for the prosecution was to the effect that during the month of April last, Mrs. McQuilkin's health was impaired by the arduous duties imposed upon her as proprietress of a restaurant, and acting on medical advice, she determined upon taking a vacatien. Accordingly she left this city for San Bernardino on Monday, April 22d, and her husband followed her next day. On the 24th he returned to Los Angeles to settle up his affairs prior to making a prolonged visit to the sister city, and left the restaurant in charge of W. W. Ledow during his absence. After a few weeks absence he again came back for his wife's trunk, which had been left in the bedroom at the rear of the restaurant, and on examining it he found that five suits of underclothes, one green silk sash and $25 in money had been stolen from it; but he said nothing about the loss at that time, and the trunk was taken down to San Bernardino, where his wife immediately called his attention to the fact that the property was missing. In the meantime the Williams couple had been engaged at the "Novel," and had occupied the room in which the trunk had been left, and suspicion fell upon them. At the end of June, however, they left, and Belle Williams went to work on the 4th of July in the "steerage" at Brown's restaurant, opposite the Courthouse. She then wore a green silk sash similar to the one stolen from the "Novel;" and this reaching the ears of Mrs. McQuilken, who had returned to Los Angeles, caused her to notify the police of her loss and suspicions. A search-warrant was issued, and upon it Detective Wallin investigated the rooms occupied by Williams and his wife at the Millard House, on the corner of San Pedro and Fourth streets, but the green silk sash was the only article on the premises which corresponded with those which were wanted. This was subsequently identified positively by Mrs. McQuilkin and the dressmaker, Mrs. King, who made it, and was found to correspond in every detail with a piece of the silk left over in the making. Six witnesses were produced to swear to the facts as stated above. Belle Williams, however, explained the fact of the sash being in her possession, by asserting that her mother gave her six yards of the silk stuff in December last, when she bought it in a Kearney-street store in San Francisco. She had the whole six yards made into a sash, but shortly afterward sat on some wine and grease and had to cut off about three yards of it and re shape it. Two or three witnesses swore to having seen the defendant wear the sash before her marriage, and on this showing the court held that it was possible for two women to procure sashes in different places of identically the same stuff and shade, and discharged the defendants, awarding the sash to Belle Williams.

A Landlady's Troubles.

Mrs. Lucy J. Fuller, the proprietress of a lodging-house at 428 East First street, appeared in the Police Court Saturday afternoon and swore to a complaint against John Tracy, one of her roomers, charging him with disturbing the peace. Mrs. Fuller, who is an elderly lady and some what of an invalid, says that for some time past Tracy has neglected to pay his rent when it became due, and all her requests for money were unheeded. A few weeks ago she says she insisted upon his either paying up his delinquency or vacating his room, but even this met with no response from her lodger, and she was in despair. On Friday afternoon, to complete her difficulties, Mr. Trantom, the proprietor of the building, gave her notice to quit the premises, and naturally Tracy received one also. This only infuriated the latter against his landlady, and Saturday morning she states that he met her in the hallway and shaking his fist in her face he denounced the notice to quit as a scheme perpetrated by herself in order to effect his removal from the house. He then broke out into a volley of abusive language and threatened to "do her up" if she persisted in trying to get him out because he did not pay his rent. Tracy was arrested by Officer Jackson on a warrant, at 7:45 p.m., and locked up in the City Jail. He stated that the reason he acted so disgracefully was because Mrs. Fuller called his child names and cast reflections upon his wife, who is now an inmate of the County Hospital.

The Orphans Remembered.

The lady managers of the Orphans' Home devote their time and efforts trying to supply the necessities of the helpless little ones under their care, but it is pleasant to think that occasionally the orphans are treated to a taste of the luxuries of life. Mr. T. A. Gardner sent over to the Home last week a quantity of ice cream, which was greatly appreciated by the little folks. On their behalf the grateful managers return thanks to Mr. Gardner for the kindly remembrance.

FARMERS VS. DEALERS.

The Farmers' Side of the Question Well Stated.

EDITORS HERALD: In your paper of the 13th inst. I noticed that some one connected with a cold storage and packing company gave to your reporter some rather startling figures regarding the value of hog products imported from the East. I believe the imports were stated as over $70,000 monthly; and it was also stated that about all the ham, bacon and lard used here was imported.

Now, in view of these facts, it might seem strange that our farmers should allow such a state of things to exist. Permit me to suggest, however, that it is not entirely the fault of the farmers. They are able and willing to supply the markets of Los Angeles with all the produce required, and could do so with profit to themselves and advantage to the consumers, as well, were it not that they are certain of being cinched by the combination of dealers every time they offer for sale a few pounds of produce in excess of the requirements for the day or week. One extra wagon load of potatoes, for example, knocks the market to smithereens. Yet, in a month or so, when the home crop is gone, our dealers cheerfully import by the carload, from the North and East.

Just so long as our produce fully supplies the market, be it for a day or a year, just so long do prices remain discouragingly low. As soon as this produce is consumed, and imports commence, up go the prices; and people again wonder why the farmers are so indifferent to their golden opportunities. Let them wonder. "Devilish sly is Joey Bagstock."

A few years ago most every farmer in Southern California had his band of hogs, and though it cost little to raise them, it did cost something, and when the price went away below that something, all the then existing four-legged hogs were killed off. Some of the two-legged ones are said to have made fortunes out of the disaster.

What we need here is a legitimate exchange where values may be fixed—not capriciously, as in the old Produce Exchange—but with some regard to the supply and demand. If eggs are going to be worth forty cents a dozen when imported next week, they are worth neither sixty cents or ten cents this week. If hay is going to be worth ten dollars a ton next fall, it is not worth twenty dollars now, nor is five dollars a fair price for it. If barley is going to be worth a dollar a cwt. next winter, it is worth over forty cents today; and so on. We don't know, in this place, what anything is worth, or what it is likely to be worth. The farmer only requires what his produce is worth to successfully supply the market, but he must have that at least. Why, if he only got seventy-five per cent. of the average price that the consumer pays he would soon be independent.

In eastern cities it is known approximately what a product will bring at any time, because the supply is carefully considered and the consumption is known. Who knows whether the potato crop of this county amounts to 10,000 or 100 000 sacks; the hay crop to 5,000 or 500,000 tons? We may guess, but that is all. There is no legitimate bureau of information, no reliable guide, nothing by which to fix just values. Our dealers may know about what the demand is. The supply they can better figure on when everything is imported. They then know just about how many carloads of potatoes, butter, chickens, eggs, etc. are here and on the way, and can regulate the market accordingly. Possibly that may account for their apparent desire to discourage home production!

It must be admitted that the farmers do a little cinching themselves whenever the rare opportunity offers. Under the present abnormal system it is their only way of saving themselves from absolute destruction. RUSTICUS.

LONG BEACH ASSEMBLY.

Interesting Proceedings at Yesterday's Session.

Saturday evening's train was crowded with people from Los Angeles who wished to get away from the rush and bustle of city life one day in the week. People from surrounding places drove here in great numbers, and consequently the congregations yesterday were very large.

At 8 o'clock the regular devotional service was held. It consisted of prayer, song and testimony. At 9:30 the Sunday school met under the able leadership of Dr. Hilton Williams. There were fully 300 scholars and visitors present. After the regular study of the lesson, a very interesting review was held. At 11 the tabernacle was filled to hear Rev. Dr. Bresee of Pasadeno. The singing was led by Miss Elwood, organ; Walter Williams, piano, and Frank Cuthbert, tuba.

The evening service began with half an hour's praise service led by Mr. Arne. The Rev. Dr. Sinex, pastor of Pacific Grove M. E. Church, was introduced, and preached a very able sermon on Luke xv, 7. The Doctor is one of the leading divines of the Methodist Episcopal Conference of Northern California, and was for many years President of the University of the Pacific at San Jose. His sermon was one of great clearness and power.

The Alliance will close on Monday with a platform meeting commencing at 11 a. m.

On Tuesday evening the camp meeting of the M. E. Church of Southern California will begin.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"Patience" at the Los Angeles—Notes of Plays and Players.

Herr Joachim some time ago became the owner of the baton with which Haydn used to conduct his orchestra. He has since presented it to Herr Richter.

The London Mirror says that Edward Lloyd is going to America and will sing at the Cincinnati festival at Boston. Good for the Mirror. Its geography can't hurt it and it must amuse Boston and Cincinnati.

Lillian Russell is singing better than ever she did before, and since she has appeared in The Brigands her acting has improved wonderfully. She is certainly the queen of American comic opera—a mile ahead of any of the rest.—[Chicago Times.

Ellen Terry's son, who bears her brother's name, Edward, and who had a one-line part in Boston when Eugene Aram was played there four years ago, is now 17 years old and will make his London debut presently. This confirms the report that Ellen Terry is 30 years old.—[Brooklyn Eagle.

T. Henry French, who made the deal with Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett for the play of Little Lord Fauntleroy, talks thus of her to his business partner: "She is a most difficult woman to approach. She keeps you dangling after her, making you wait for hours before giving you an audience, and when she does see you she expects you to exalt her to the skies, tell her what a great authoress she is, and how much you have enjoyed her works. She is the most difficult woman to deal with that I ever met."

According to the New York Sun, a criticism by Turgenieff upon Sarah Bernhardt has just been published in Vienna from which the actress will be anything but happy: "I grant that she is a prudent, smart, clever woman, one who knows her own metier to its very smallest detail, and is further gifted by nature with a splendid voice, which has been well schooled. But she is utterly without naturalness and without artistic temperament, the defect of which she attempts to supply by Parisian sensuousness. She is pourrie de chic, advertisement, and pose, monotonous, cold, dry—or to gather up all in one sentence she has not a spark of that which we call talent in its highest sense. Her step is like that of a hen, the movements of her hands are intentionally piquant. Her whole performance, to my thinking, smells of the boulevards, Figaro, and pacculia."

"The Paymaster."

Duncan B. Harrison's company arrived yesterday, and will produce The Paymaster tonight. All the scenery and effects used in this play have been specially painted and have been described as being beautiful in their close likeness to nature. The company is said to be a strong one. Following is the cast:

"Francis Houghton," Colonel commanding Her Majesty's 22d Regiment, infantry, Mr. Theo. Hamilton; "William J. Harding," Captain and Adjutant Her Majesty's 22d Regiment, infantry, T. A. Wise; "Reginald Hammersleigh," Captain and Quartermaster Her Majesty's 22d Regiment, infantry, Mr. Neil O'Brien; "Robert Emmet O'Connor," First Lieutenant and Paymaster of Her Majesty's 22d Regiment, infantry, Mr. Duncan B. Harrison; "Patrick Fitzgerald," First Sergeant and veteran of the Crimea, Mr. Thomas A. Wise; "Henry Upton," Drill Sergeant, Mr. Geo. A Wright; "Corporal Henley," Mr. W. A. Ralph; "Larry O'Brien," the Paymaster's servant, Mr. John F. Ward; "John Dawson," a sentry, Mr. Thomas Moore; "Ethel Miley," mistress of Inslavogue, an Irish heiress, Miss Beatrice Lieb; "Mrs. Helen O'Connor," the Paymaster's mother, Miss Ethel Douglas; "Nellie O'Connor," the Paymaster's sister, Miss Ruth Hamilton; "Mrs. William J. Harding," Adjutant's wife, Miss Anne Alliston; "Moyna Sullivan," servant at the Paymaster's house, Miss Ida Ward; "Hettie," Miss Halcomb; "Nettie," Jeannette Randolph; "Lettie," Frederick Paulton; "Pettie," Estelle Henriques.

"Patience."

Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera Patience was put on at the Los Angeles last night. A great deal of care has been taken in the preparation of the piece, and the initial performance was smooth and creditable to the management. Mr. Wyatt's English Opera Company is a well organized affair, and the series of operas they have presented have been extremely well represented.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre has just closed a very successful season, and an entirely new company is rehearsing for the reopening which will take place in about a month. Mr. Isaacs has secured the right to produce a number of good plays, and while the theatre is closed will have new scenery and suitable stage settings made. Due notice will be given of the reopening.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.

The Governor Inspects the Site and is Banquetted.

Upon invitation of Mr. Hervey Lindley, Governor Waterman and a number of the most prominent citizens of Los Angeles visited Whittier on Saturday evening. A special car had been provided for the party, among whom were Governor Waterman, Hervey Lindley, Hon. J. M. Damron, Col. J. Banbury, Hon. John R. Brierly, Dr. H. G. Brainerd, Dr. J. E. Cowles, J. W. Davis, Al. Lindley, Ralph Lowe, Clerk of the Board of Trustees of the Reform School; John E. Coffin, R. D. Wade, Hon. F. Variel, H. T. Payne, Councilmen R. E. Wirsching, Theodore Summerland and James T. Brown, H. C. Whitmer, I. P. Allen, C. O. Scott, Col. R. B. Treat, John Morton, R. B. Young, Frank B. Zowney, Supervisor A. E. Davis, S. M. Perry, Chairman of Board of Supervisors; J. A. Kelly, Lester Osborne, George Gillson, J. E. McNeil, John W. Green, W. H. Seamans and wife. At Whittier the visitors were received by the citizens of the town, who had provided carriages in which the party were driven to the site of the Reform School. The land selected for the school is forty acres in extent, level and well watered. The soil is very fertile, and the entire piece of property is well cared for. Shade trees of all varieties have been planted and are growing finely. After the school ground had been inspected, the party were taken for a drive through the town, and were then escorted to the Greenleaf Hotel, and the Governor to Mr. Hervey Lindley's magnificent home, where he remained as his especial guest. The reception tendered the Governor at Mr. Lindley's in the evening was a brilliant affair. Fully three hundred persons attended. The evening passed very pleasantly. Mrs. Hervey Lindley, Mrs. Dr. Lindley, Miss Ida Lindley and Miss Susie Banta receiving and making all welcome. Mrs. H. L. Hawver delighted the company by rendering several vocal selections.

At 10 o'clock the banquet was announced, and the guests adjourned to the dining-room of the Hotel Greenleaf where a sumptuous repast had been prepared. The Hon. John R. Brierly was selected as toastmaster and sat at the head of the table. Governor Waterman was at his right hand, next to whom came Mr. S. M. Perry and Rev. Dr. Simms. To the left of the presiding officer, were Rev. Dr. Jessup and Supervisor A. E. Davis. After doing full justice to the tempting viands prepared for them, the guests were called to order by General Brierly, who made a short speech introducing the Rev. Josiah Simms, who proposed the toast "The State of California." The Governor in responding to this toast spoke of the advantages of the location selected for the reform school. He said "the object was not only to make the school the best in the State, but the best in the Union, as it can be." The Governor thought that more ground should be secured, and suggested that 120 acres in addition to the 40 already bought, be secured, so that the workshops could be built, and the inmates of the school given the opportunity of learning trades and fitting themselves for positions. The Governor concluded his remarks by expressing his appreciation of the ovation tendered by the citizens of Whittier.

Rev. Dr. Jessup, pastor of the Friends' Society, responded to the toast, "Whittier, the Friends' Colony; its Advantages as a Location for a Reform School." "The Necessity for an Insane Asylum in Southern California" was responded to by Dr. H. G. Brainerd. "The Trustees of the Insane Asylum" was responded to by Mr. Kerr, one of the trustees of the asylum. "The City of Los Angeles." In responding to this toast, Councilman Wirsching compared the Los Angeles of today with the adobe town so familiar to the old settlers. Then falling into a humorous mood Mr. Wirsching delighted his hearers with an account of his first experience with a bronco. The next toast, "The Public School System of California," was responded to by Mr. R. D. Wade.

Mr. Brierly called on Mr. John Morton for a speech. Mr. Morton said that he had taken Mark Twain's advice, that, "If you are going to make an impromptu speech, prepare it before hand." The poet laureate of the Union League then read a poem. "The Press," was responded to by H. T. Payne.

The following toasts were also proposed: "The County of Los Angeles," response by Supervisor Davis; "The Legal Fraternity," response by Hon. F. Variel; "The Ladies," responded to by Captain W. H. Seamans; "The Legislature," response by Hon. J. M. Damron; "The Benevolent Institutions of California," responded to by Hon. B. M. Smith.

For a Harbor.

EDITORS HERALD—In this morning's HERALD there is an extract from a report of the Engineer Corps on harbor work, past and prospective in California. According to this statement, Oakland, with a safe harbor and opposite the great harbor of San Francisco, is to get $500,000 for improvements. San Luis Obispo is to have a breakwater 2,300 feet long for work on which during this year $150,000 is asked; while Wilmington harbor, according to these engineers, only requires $85,000. In its present condition, during the past year nearly 1,100 vessels anchored at the wharves, and the Government revenue was nearly $200,000. All heavy freighting from deep draught vessels has to be done by lightering.

The anchorage is not safe in southwest storms. The tax on the commerce of Los Angeles and Southern California, owing to the imperfection of this harbor, and the consequent excessive cost of handling freight, is much greater than the people generally suppose.

During the past ten years the cost of lighterage at San Pedro has amounted to millions of dollars. With a safe harbor this lighterage would have been saved. These unnecessary taxes which have been paid would have built a commodious harbor at San Pedro, several times over. Were this harbor safe and available for prompt and safe trans-shipment of merchandise, we must anticipate that its business would take an extraordinary growth.

Los Angeles is already the most important railroad center on the Pacific Coast with every prospect of increasing its importance in this respect. A good harbor at which its foreign commerce could be transacted economically would be a saving and advantage to populations, even east of the Rocky Mountains.

When we consider these facts, the annual recommendations of the Engineer Corps—for small sums to do secondary works, patchy, imperfect and inadequate to make a harbor for deep sea vessels at San Pedro, we must rest astonished at the lack of business sense they show. When we further reflect that the nearest competing point to Wilmington is 120 miles distant to the south and that San Francisco is over 400 miles to the north; we may well be surprised to see $85,000 recommended for the essentially important work of improving the harbor of San Pedro, while $500,000 is asked for Oakland, opposite the great harbor of San Francisco. If we rest contented with this piddling policy it is our own fault. Whatever may be the causes of the discrimination of the Engineer Corps against Los Angeles, it is probable that a persistent exposition of the facts to Congress and to the country will bring us the desired relief.

Some scheme should be devised to organize an effort in this direction. Every influential man in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties will be glad to sign a petition to Congress asking for $1,000,000 as a first installment for the building of a safe harbor for the commerce of Los Angeles. Whether this harbor be at San Pedro or at Santa Monica is immaterial. The business interests of our city and of a great and productive extent of country demand this outlet to the sea. Now is the time to prepare this work for the coming Congress, and to secure for the support of our harbor the efforts of the California Congressmen. It seems only appropriate that this effort should start with the HERALD, always the devoted friend of Southern California, and the efficient advocate of its interests.

MONDAY, JULY 22, 1889.

The Los Angeles of the Future.

The presence of an occasional croaker in our midst leads us to take a summary of the present and future of Los Angeles. We have no apology for the fact that we are an optimist as to everything which pertains to this lovely and incomparable city and county.

When the writer first saw Los Angeles it was a miserable 'dobe town. That was in the spring of 1873—in April of that year. There were then, in truth, only a score of modern, American-looking buildings, business and residence, in a bailiwick which then, as now, comprised nearly thirty-six square miles. The Temple Block, the Downey Block, the Pico House, and three or four other buildings, embraced the modern business improvements. On the hills there were only two or three edifices, all told. Mr. P. Beaudry and Mr. J. W. Potts were then engaged in cutting Temple street through the hills. The place where the magnificent Bradbury residence now stands could probably have been bought for $5 a front foot, and where the residence of Mrs. E. B. Crocker now commands an incomparable valley the prices would have been very much less.

All the magnificent southwestern portion of the city—the region which now embraces the superb residences on Pearl and Figuroa, Washington and Adams streets, Hill and Olive streets, could have been bought for a mere song, and was practically inaccessible. A feeble line of street cars ran within a short distance of the Nichols mansion, on Pearl street. In all the extended section which to-day contains as many palaces as any western city except Chicago, there was at that time only half a dozen modern houses.

The present gracious and promising city of Los Angeles was really a 'dobe abortion, both as a residence and a business proposition, in the spring of 1873. With the exception of the High School, which had been erected on the hill where the splendid new court-house is now being built, there was no public building worthy the name. The jail was a wretched 'dobe affair, and the wonder was that it successfully restrained of his liberty such a famous malefactor as Vasquez.

The city of Los Angeles today contains business edifices that ask no odds of Chicago. Spring and Main streets are aligned by buildings which are equal to anything to be seen in San Francisco, although even at as late a day as five years ago there were not more than six stores between First street and the gore which marks the merging of those streets into Main at the junction. Wherever one turns, an interminable succession of fine residence and business edifices greets one.

The last five or six years has witnessed the transformation of Los Angeles from a 'dobe city to one which vies with any city on the continent in the elegance of her buildings. What shall we see in the future?

The great changes which we have briefly noted have resulted from our tremendous railway developments, which seem to be merely in their initial. The growth of this city began when a few stage coaches to San Bernardino, to San Pedro and towards the North, with weekly trips of the Goodall, Nelson & Perkins' steamers, calling at San Pedro twice a month, and finally weekly, were all the transportation facilities we could claim. Now three distinct transcontinental railways, with ramifications which embrace two more, contribute to our growth. Other railway projects are aiming at Los Angeles as a terminus. What are we, in view of the past, to expect of the future?

In our opinion, judging the future from the past, Los Angeles in the next five years will be the handsomest city west of the Rocky Mountains. The desire to enjoy its exquisite climate will of itself be enough to fill it in that period with one hundred and fifty thousand of the most eclectic people on the American continent. The number of people who will settle here with independent incomes, in the next half decade, will of itself give a stamp of elegance and stability to this community not elsewhere rivaled in the United States. But this population will not be inert. It will be composed largely of persons who have not survived their business usefulness, but who will pursue their daily avocations under a climate which will stimulate them to successful business careers.

Then the fact should not be overlooked that the finest mineral developments on the continent will shortly concenter at Los Angeles, and that the building of the Union Pacific railway and the extension of the Carson and Colorado to this point will make it a center of smelting and manufacturing enterprises, with cheap coal and abundant iron as factors in the proposition. The mines of the precious metals in the immediate neighborhood of Los Angeles will also contribute greatly to our development, as will the improvements of our harbors, at least one of which will be consummated by liberal national aid.

The real Los Angeles will be disclosed during the next ten years. It will be a region of palaces, of sound, substantial business houses, of a production not rivaled in the United States, and of magical changes. The transformation of the 'dobe town of 1873 into the superb city of today but faintly prefigures the opulence and stability of the Los Angeles of the future. Change is the order of the day here, but always for the better.

A Non-Partisan Board.

Acting upon the suggestion thrown out by the HERALD, the City Democratic Central Committee held a special executive session yesterday afternoon and adopted the following memorial, which will be presented to the City Council today:

WHEREAS, The city charter, in providing that not more than two members of the Board of Police Commissioners shall belong to the same political party, contemplated the withdrawal of the Police Department from partisan control by balancing the power as equally as possible between the two political parties into which the people are divided; and

WHEREAS, The City Council has recognized this interpretation of the charter by selecting two Republican Commissioners to represent the party of which it is altogether composed; and

WHEREAS, That recognition implies the obligation upon the part of the Council to offset the two Republican Commissioners by two Democratic Commissioners; therefore

Resolved, By the City Democratic Committee, that it is the duty of the Council, under its manifest interpretation of the organic act, to give this city a non-partisan Board of Police Commissioners by the appointment of two Democrats of recognized standing in the community, both as citizens and partisans; and this committee, as the official voice of the Democratic party of Los Angeles, therefore demands of your honorable body that it carry out the logic of its intention by the immediate appointment of two Democrats to serve as members of the Board of Police Commissioners of this city.

The Council can only repel this action of the committee by confessing that it is running the Police Department of the city government in the interest of its own party, and in violation and defiance of the letter and spirit of the city charter. The charter clearly contemplates the selection of Police Commissioners equally from both parties. The appointment of two Republican Commissioners implies the assent of the Council to this interpretation of the organic act. To be consistent and to comply with the letter and intention of the law, it is clearly the duty of the Council to give the Democratic party two members of the board. To continue to ignore the Democracy as it has done heretofore, and leave it without any representation whatever in the board, may be smart politics; but it is very small politics, and will inevitably react to the injury of the machine politicians who resort to this kind of tricky business.

"New California on Wheels."

The Bulletin of last Friday calls attention to the fact that two new cars to carry California exhibits to the East are now being fitted up in the railroad shops at Sacramento, and says:

The inside arrangements and shelves are about all completed, and the vestibules built. About the middle of next week they will be turned over to the painters and will be elaborately painted and decorated. The same inscription as is now on the present car will be borne by the next traveling exhibit.

T. H. Goodman, General Passenger Agent of the Southern Pacific, has arranged with the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company for a very eligible location for "California on Wheels" at Milwaukee during the Grand Army of the Republic Encampment next month. Mr. Goodman left for the East yesterday, and will telegraph to the State Board of Trade as soon as he reaches his destination.

In the cellar of the board there are several dozen very large Philadelphia jars recently obtained from the manufacturer, awaiting the arrival of first-class specimens of fruit from the different counties. They will be packed and sent forward to Chicago by the first of next month.

The officers of the board are sanguine of their ability to make the "New California on Wheels" the finest that has ever been placed on the road.

The cars that are now exhibiting California products in the East have attracted a great deal of attention, and as an advertising scheme have accomplished a very beneficial purpose. Wherever they have gone crowds of people have visited them and taken lively interest in the exhibits. It goes without saying that many Eastern people have been and will be induced to remove to California by the very inviting object lesson which these exhibits teach. Los Angeles should be well represented in the new cars. Our best samples of fruit, wines, nuts, oils, etc., should have a conspicuous place in these cars, and the Chamber of Commerce could not do a better thing than to make a special effort to see that the products of our county are handsomely epitomized in this "New California on Wheels."

THE Tribune says the right of way for the outfall sewer by the Ballona route has been secured. As it has not been secured, this reckless assertion is grossly misleading. One great objection to the unnecessary designation of the route in the ordinance is that it ties the city to that particular route, and enables those who own land through which it will have to pass to exact extortionate prices for the right of way.

IF THE river is thirty feet higher at the southeastern boundary than at the southwestern boundary line of the city, that proves nothing against the river route for the outfall sewer. Two miles below the city the river is thirty feet lower than the southwestern boundary line, and where, on engineering principles, the sewer would have to meet it, the bed is seventy feet lower than the lowest level of the city.

THE "American" party polled about fifty votes in this city at the last election, and is accorded a representative in the Board of Police Commissioners. The Democratic party carried this city by a majority of over eleven hundred last December, and is left without any representation whatever in the Board. Yet the charter contemplates a division of political representation in that body.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

Shocking Domestic Tragedy in Ohio.

A LIKE AFFAIR IN MISSOURI.

The Hocking Valley Swept by a Flood Caused by the Bursting of a Dam.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

CLEVELAND, O., July 21.—A Leader special from Bryan, Williams county, says: A horrible tragedy was enacted at Edgerton today. The wife of Hiram Hoadley, Jr., left him some time ago on account of domestic trouble and returned to the home of her father, a farmer named Newman. This morning Hoadley went to the Newman residence early, and when his wife came out to go to the barnyard, seized her with his left hand and held her while he fired three bullets into her breast, leaving her for dead. Her father hurried out on hearing the shots and was fired on and killed by Hoadley. The miscreant then pursued his mother-in-law and his wife's younger sister, and but for timely aid which reached them, would doubtless have killed them, too. He then returned to where his wife was lying, and finding her still alive, emptied two more chambers of his revolver into her head and then shot himself, inflicting a fatal wound, from which he died soon after. He had three revolvers on his person, and it is believed he intended to kill the entire family. Hoadley leaves four children by a former wife. He was a prominent politician of Williams county, and prosperous in business affairs.

A HUSBAND'S CRIME.

Shoots His Wife and Then Himself Because She Deserted Him.

ST. LOUIS, The Republic's, Kirksville, Mo., special says: About two years ago James Sylva and Miss Buckale, the daughter of a well known citizen of Kirksville, were married and removed to Keokuk, Iowa. About six months ago Mrs. Sylva returned to the parental roof, stating that her husband would not support her. Sylva arrived here this morning and went to his wife's father's house. He asked his wife: "Allie, will you return to me?" The young woman replied in the negative, whereupon Sylva fired at her and she fell. Sylva then turned the weapon upon himself and sent a ball into his brain. He will die. Mrs. Sylva was not hurt.

UP TO MISCHIEF.

Strangely Fatal Consequences Attending a Jail-Breaking.

CLEVELAND, July 21.—Two prisoners, W. A. Smith and Richard N. Mansfield, broke from the County Jail last night, going through the slate roof. Deputy Sheriff Goldsoll went to the western part of the city where one of the men lived, and with a policeman laid in wait for the fellows. About midnight a carriage containing two men passed along the street. The officers called to the occupants of the vehicle to stop. Several shots were exchanged and Goldsoll was fatally wounded. The carriage was driven rapidly away. An hour later the rig was found a mile from the place of the shooting. In the buggy was one of the men dead. It was at first thought the dead man was Smith, but those who knew him failed to identify the corpse and the police are still in the dark. They think, however, the dead man was up to mischief, for, in the buggy were found two revolvers, a club, screw-driver and a piece of rope. The horse, which had been stolen in the eastern part of the city, was wounded.

A LA CONEMAUGH.

The Hocking Valley Inundated by the Breaking of a Dam.

LANCASTER, O., July 21—One of the most disastrous storms ever known in the Hocking Valley culminated yesterday in the breaking of Sharp's dam at Sugar Grove. The Hocking Canal dam held in store a large body of water that supplied the lower levels of the canal. Heavy rains had filled the reservoir to the banks when suddenly the dam gave away and the water went out through the valley, taking with it every moveable object. For twenty miles the soil is plowed up, and trees, fences, crops and hundreds of head of live stock are swept away. No lives were lost because the houses were situated on the bluff that overlooks the valley, but the canal for miles is a wreck, and thousands of feet of railroad track are washed away.

A BRUTAL EXPERIMENT.

A Dog Sent Over Niagara Falls in a Barrel.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 21—Hundreds of people crowded the southern shore, Goat Island, and Three Sisters Island this afternoon, to witness the effect of a trip down the river and over the Horseshoe Falls of a barrel, Carlisle Graham had announced he would set adrift at 3:30 p. m. It contained a Newfoundland dog securely strapped to canvas suspenders attached to the inside of a barrel. At first it drifted lazily onward, but soon the more rapid current caught it. The barrel appeared to head toward the Canadian shore until it got well into the rapids, when it was speeded somewhat toward the American side. At 3:30 o'clock it reached the brink of Horseshoe Fall and passed over a little west of the center. Many expectant eyes watched for its appearance on the ruffled surface, but it did not show up. Pieces of the barrel were picked up soon afterward. The dog was not to be found.

WEST VIRGINIA FLOOD.

Fears That the Death List Will Be Much Increased.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 21.—Intelligencer specials from the flood district tonight state it is feared the death list will be much increased when points now cut off from the outside world are heard from. A late dispatch says the village of Morristown, Wirt county, was swept entirely away. Great suffering exists among those who lost all they possessed, and the County Commissioners will issue an appeal for aid. The cloudburst occurred on Limestone Mountain, where the five creeks that were flooded have a common source. The damage to crops is inestimable and farmers will be dependent upon charity until next season.

FIRE IN GOTHAM.

Great Excitement Caused in a Tenement District.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Early this morning a fire gutted the three-story brick building at 304, 306 and 308 East Eleventh street, occupied by Moses Weill as a stable and storage place for carriages. The neighborhood being a tenement district, great excitement was created, and it was necessary for the police to clear the street, which was filled with half-clad people. This was hardly accomplished when the front wall of the building fell into the street. Several firemen and policemen were slightly injured by flying bricks. Loss, $35,000.

DEATH IN A WELL.

The Old Story—Two Men Overcome by Foul Air.

HOBART, Ind., July 21.—On the farm of Henry Huffman, near here, today a hired man went down the well to get a piece of meat which had fallen into the water. A PROCLAMATION.

Boulanger and His Colleagues Address the French Electors.

LONDON, July 21.—General Boulanger, Count Dillon and M. Rochefort have issued the following manifesto:

To the French Electors:

We have disdained to reply to the absurd calumnies concocted by Ministers who have been convicted of peculation. Our abstention from this odious comedy is now justified by the indignant repulsion of the attempts to extort from officers of the army lying denunciations of their former chief. These suborners of witnesses have not hesitated to employ the tax-payers' money to obtain false depositions from jail-birds in their cells at Mazas. These miserable prevaricators who accuse their former Minister of War of corruption, public disgust has already condemned, and the justice of the country will speedily overtake these malefactors. They appealed to the Penal Code, but the outcome of their infamous machinations was that they could bring absolutely nothing against us. If they could have obtained the most trivial proof they would not thus have risked the Assize Court by negotiating with forgers. It is for you, dear fellow-countrymen, to judge between us and these thieves. We await with confidence your sentence, from which these bandits, who feel its approach, vainly endeavor to escape. Long live regenerated France! Long live the honest Republic!

Decorating Communists' Graves.

PARIS, July 21.—The Anarchists marched in a procession to the cemetery of Pere la Chase today and laid wreaths upon the graves of dead Communists. Herr Liebknecht and others delivered orations at the tombs of Borne and Heine. A band of Possiblists, headed by Mrs. Besant, also visited the cemetery and decorated the Communists' graves with wreaths; also placing upon them grasses which had been plucked from the graves of the Anarchists executed at Chicago.

British Reinforcements.

CAIRO, July 21.—Eight hundred more British troups have started for Assoun.

General Andrew Jackson's Dinner.

When General Andrew Jackson visited Concord, N. H., after his Presidential term had expired, he was entertained at Cass Hotel, at that time the leading hotel of the State. The proprietor, wishing to do honor to his distinguished guest, provided a banquet and arranged to serve it with considerable style. With the first course the General surprised the waiter by ordering crackers and milk, and refused all other dishes, much to the disgust of the proprietor. Cass Hotel was the great resort for stage drivers, and it was at this hotel Vice-President Morton boarded when a young man and engaged as a clerk in the dry goods business. One of the leading merchants of Concord, now in the business, was a boarder at the hotel at that time and occupied a seat at the same table.—[Concord letter to the Boston Traveller.

The Ostrich's Opportunity.

The northwestern farmers are turning to ostriches. If the ostrich can lift the northwestern mortgage, he will be allowed to roost very close to that of the American eagle.—[Courier Journal.

GENERAL TOPICS.

A Constitution for North Dakota.

A READY-MADE INSTRUMENT.

A Dry Sunday in Cincinnati and Kansas City—Fun in Oklahoma Begun.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

BISMARCK, Dak., July 21.—The Constitutional Convention has been given a surprise by the presentation of a complete constitution, which will be considered during the present week. This constitution is said to have been prepared with great care, and after consultation with some of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the Union. In many respects it is identical with articles already introduced. It is a compilation of the best provisions of the constitutions of the different States and the United States, fitted to North Dakota.

With regard to taxation it has no specific provisions, embodying the Wisconsin constitutional provision on this subject, which provides that the rate of taxation shall be uniform upon property made subject to taxation by the Legislature, leaving the power of regulating the method of taxation with the Legislature. It also provides that the property of non-residents shall not be taxed at a higher rate than that of residents; gives the Legislature power to fix passenger and freight rates of railroads and transportation companies, the rates to be reasonable, and the courts to decide what are reasonable rates; prohibits the loaning of the credit of the State to any association or corporation; vests the judicial power in a Court of Impeachment, consisting of the Senate, Supreme Court, District Court, County Courts and Justices of the Peace, thus providing for the establishment of County Courts; limits the number of Judges of the Supreme Court to three, which may be increased after five years.

It provides against female suffrage.

The House of Representatives shall consist of not less than 75, nor more than 120 members, and the Senate less than one-third nor more than one-half of the size of the House. Each organized county shall be entitled to at least one member of the House. The Senators are divided into two classes, one to be elected for two years and the other four. It provides for biennial sessions of the Legislature, not exceeding ninety days; two-thirds of the members-elect may override the veto power. It is against minority representation, providing for elections by a plurality vote.

It gives the Legislature full power to regulate liquor licenses.

Any coal lands which the State may acquire by Congressional grant shall never be sold, but may be leased.

The School fund shall be invested in United States bonds, bonds of the State or first mortgage securities of the State, at more than the value of the land. The School fund shall be considered a Trust fund, the interest to be used for schools, and in case of the loss of any part of the principal, the State must make it good. It prohibits the passage of school laws.

The property of a wife before marriage and what she may acquire during marriage, shall be exempt from execution on claims against her husband.

It directs the Legislature to pass liberal homestead laws; prohibits foreign corporations from transacting business in the State until they appoint an agent in the State who shall be subject to process by law.

It provides that no foreigner shall vote until two years after he has declared his intention to become a citizen, and that the reading of the Declaration of Independence with facility shall be considered a test of the qualification of a voter.

No act of the Legislature shall take effect within sixty days after adjournment, unless specially provided in the preamble or the body of the act.

This constitution will furnish an abundance of material for discussion, and those who have read it predict that it will be adopted with very few changes.

SUNDAY LAW.

Its Enforcement in Cincinnati with Puritanic Rigidity.

CINCINNATI, July 21.—Never since the beginning of the attempt to enforce the Sunday law were the saloons so generally and tightly closed as they have been today. There have been fifteen arrests made. Drug stores were not permitted to sell anything but medicines and soda water. Not a cigar or plug of tobacco could be had except clandestinely. Cigar stores that are newstands were allowed to keep open to sell papers. Barber shops were shut up tightly. It is understood that the closing of cigar stores, etc., is a retaliatory movement by the saloon-keepers, as the Law and Order League is moving against saloons only.

KANSAS CITY KEPT DRY.

KANSAS CITY, July 21.—The Sunday law had its designed effect for the first time today since its attempted enforcement, and Kansas City is as dry as prohibition Kansas. Today the Chief of Police placed in the hands of forty-five police officers blank warrants for the arrest of saloon-keepers who violated the Downing law. The officers were in citizens' clothes and kept a strict watch. Only three of them found a chance to make arrests.

THE FUN BEGUN.

First Claim Contests in Oklahoma Decided.

GUTHRIE, Oklahoma, July 21—Register Lille and Receiver Barnes, of the Land Office here, have rendered a decision in the first claim contest in Oklahoma. There were three claimants for a quarter section adjacent to the Santa Fé road right of way, opposite Oklahoma City. The first was Deputy United States Marshal White. He was on the ground the day Oklahoma was opened in his official capacity, and staked his claim at 12:01 p. m. C. J. Blanchard, an employee of the Santa Fé road, stepped on the quarter at noon and drove his stakes. Vestal Cook was in the Chickasaw nation at noon, but with the aid of four confederates, who supplied him with relays of horses, he reached the quarter section at 1 o'clock and asserted his claim. Messrs. Lille and Barnes hold all three violated the law; that none of them are entitled to the quarter in question, and that they have forfeited all rights to take and hold homesteads in the Indian Territory.

Manitoba Wheat.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 21.—The Assistant General Manager of the Manitoba railroad has just completed a thorough personal examination of the wheat crop along the lines of the Manitoba roads, and predicts that the country tributary to his line will furnish the shipment of at least 32,000 bushels of wheat.

A Yardmaster Frightfully Injured.

TULARE, Cal., July 21.—James Hopper, yardmaster for the Southern Pacific railroad at Tulare, met with a serious and doubtless fatal accident in this city last night. He was making a flying switch, and when he caught hold of the ladder on the freight car, the round broke, letting him fall in front of the approaching cars. He caught hold of the brake beam and was dragged some distance. Both his legs were broken in several places, the bones protruding. His physician says he has no hope of recovery.

The Week's Clearances.

BOSTON, July 21.—The table compiled from dispatches from the clearing houses of the leading cities of the United States and Canada shows that the total gross exchanges for the past week were $1,064,881,529, an increase of 12.3 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

The Duquesne Sails for Tahiti.

The deceased came to California in '49, and sank the first shaft in the noted Rich bar in Plumas county. He was a mining man all his life. He was 63 years old.

A Burned Sawmill.

PORTLAND, July 21.—Late estimates of the loss by the burning of Jones & Son's sawmill, last night, are from $12,000 to $15,000; $5,000 insurance. The fire probably caught from a spark from a passing locomotive. Jones & Son will probably rebuild at once.

Governor Dewey Dead.

CASSVILLE, Wis., July 21.—Ex-Governor Nelson Dewey died last hight, aged 78.

Witty Things from the Eastern Papers.

The Cumberland Presbyterian does not fear to say that some of President Harrison's appointments to office in Tennessee are a disgrace to him, to his party and to the country over which he presides as Chief Magistrate. Why street loafers and political dead-beats should be appointed to important offices, while good and true men are to be found is a mystery to everybody who is not a professional politician. At least two men have been given high positions in this State who are not worthy to represent anybody in any capacity. The cause of temperance and the cause of righteousness are both ignored when whiskey-topers and common loafers are elevated to office in spite of the protests of respectable people.

John H. Hewitt, of Baltimore, Md., was 88 years of age on Thursday. He was born in this city July 11, 1801, and has lived in Baltimore for sixty years. He is called "The Father of the American Ballad," and has composed over two hundred songs. When he was 18 years old he wrote "The Minstrel's Return From the War," which was very popular. "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother," was another very successful song of his. He wrote a number of operas, among them "The Siege of Monterey," "The Blind Artist" and "The Vivandière." His most ambitious musical composition is the oratorio of "Jephtha's Daughter." He was a poet, essayist, lawyer, but he was educated for a soldior.—[N. Y. World.

It is hard to say what amount of demonstrated unfitness will bring about the removal of Commissioner Tanner from office, for the reason that it was not at all on the score of fitness that he was ever put into it; but there is a strong feeling, even in Republican quarters, that the public forbearance in his case is nearly exhausted.—[Boston Herald.

Persian Minister Ghooly Khan insists that he must leave this country because of the offensive remarks made about the Shah by the newspapers. Mr. Khan should temper his indignation by remembering the characteristics of the subject of the remarks. When the Shah visits a country nearly every one else feels like leaving it.—[St. Louis Despatch.

P. T. Barnum is looking for that Republican "protected manufacturer" in Pennsylvania who was reported in November to have raised the wages of his employees ten cents a week when he heard that Harrison was elected. The bearded lady is beginning to pall on the public taste, and Barnum wants a substitute.—[Albany Argus.

Mahone says he does not want to be Governor of Virginia. He is satisfied with running the administration in a mild way.

It is reported that President Harrison took a lively interest in the Sullivan-Kilrain fight. He has knocked out a good many men himself of late.

A Career Open.

Fond mother—Oh, dear! Doctor, I am so troubled about my baby being left-handed. What shall I do with him?

Family physician (seriously)—You might make a baseball-player of him, madam. Left-handed batters and pitchers are always in demand.—[Boston Herald.

The Stupid Drummer.

Member of the firm—How do you like the looks of the new drummer I have engaged?

Partner—To tell the truth, he looks awful stupid.

"That's his strong point. He has such a stupid look that the customers will give him orders out of pure sympathy."—[Texas Siftings.

The sailor hat promises to be quite as popular as for the last few season. It has much to recommend it.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

How the California Boys Played Ball Yesterday.

A VICTORY FOR SACRAMENTO.

Sad Drowning of a Young San Diegan—A Highwayman Captured at Chico.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Had it not been for a batting streak, aided by a couple of fielding errors, in the last inning the San Franciscos would have been shut out this afternoon by the Sacramentos. Zeigler and Barry were the opposing pitchers. The former was by far the most effective, striking out eight of San Francisco's heavy-hitters, and allowing eight hits, while Barry allowed seven hits, struck out seven men and gave three men their bases on balls. In the ninth inning the San Franciscos did some lucky playing. Stockwell gained second on Newbert's poor throw to first. Perrier followed with a single. Powers flew out to Gagus and Stockwell scored. Thompson hit safely to center and was followed by another by Swett to Goodenough, which he failed to hold, and Perrier scored. Barry followed with a double to right field, and Thompson and Swett came home. Donahue hit to Newbert and an error gave the latter his base and let Barry score. Levy hit to O'Day, and Donahue blocked the ball and ended the game, after the inning had netted the San Franciscos five runs. Score: Sacramento, 7; San Franciscos, 5.

THE OAKLANDERS BADLY BEATEN.

STOCKTON, July 21.—Thirteen base hits, fourteen more sent to base on balls, two wild pitches and three passed balls tell the whole story of the Oaklands defeat this afternoon, coupled with the failure of the Oakland men to make connection with Harper's curves. Eleven of the Oaklands were struck out. In both the second and seventh innings every man of the Stocktons went to the bat, netting six runs in the second and seven in the seventh. Baltz had no control of the ball, and was in no condition to pitch. The middle finger of his right hand is split to the bone on the end, Dailey did some elegant work behind the bat in stopping wild pitches, but was wild in throwing. Selna led in batting with two singles and a three-bagger, all of which brought in a runner. Score: Stocktons, 22; Oaklands, 6.

CRAZED WITH GRIEF.

Bert Osborne Drowned at Ocean Beach—His Mother's Sorrow.

SAN DIEGO, July 21.—Bert Osborne was drowned this afternoon while bathing at Ocean Beach. Osborne was about 26 years old, and the son of a wealthy contractor of this city. He went with his sister and a party of young friends to Ocean Beach early this morning to spend the Sunday. The young men left the ladies and went swimming. Osborne, who was a good swimmer, went out a distance and disappeared just as he was returning to shore. It is supposed that he was caught by the undertow, or cramped, and was carried out by the tide. The body has not been recovered. His mother is crazed with grief, and the physicians doubt if she will survive the shock.

Highwayman Captured.

CHICO, July 21—A man giving the name of Gleason, who is supposed to have committed the numerous highway robberies in this vicinity of late, was captured about sixteen miles from here last night. The Sheriff and posse came upon Gleason in the woods, where he had been living in a dugout. He attempted to get his rifle, but was covered by the posse and told to throw up his hands, which he did. It is claimed that evidence sufficient to convict him was found in the dugout.

Earthquake at Susanville.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Late reports from Susanville, in Lassen county, say the earthquake shocks there continue. One of the shocks threw chimneys to the ground and a swamp in the vicinity, nearly two miles and a half long, has dried up.

Drowned at Seattle.

SEATTLE, W. T., July 21.—John Thompson, a carpenter, aged 19, was drowned this evening while bathing in Lake Union. His body was recovered. Thompson has relatives in Santa Anita, Cal.

SACRAMENTO, July 21.—Frank L. Bailey, the stock-broker who recently mysteriously disappeared from San Francisco, was well known throughout Northern California. For a number of years he was a dry goods merchant at Chico.

A Bather Drowned.

SACRAMENTO, July 21.—Louis Gershacher, a tailor, a native of Germany, was drowned this afternoon while bathing in the Sacramento river. Body not recovered.

SANTA ROSA, June 21.—The First Regiment, N. G. C., three hundred strong, arrived here on a special train at one o'clock this morning, and went immediately into camp at Camp Orton.

Santa Barbara's Valuation.

SANTA BARBARA, July 21.—The assessed valuation of the city of Santa Barbara, by the City Assessor, amounts to $5,214,580; last year it was $5,398,944.

California on More Wheels.

The splendid success of California on Wheels as a means of advertising our resources in the East, has induced the State Board of Trade to project a far larger exhibit for the campaign of 1889-90. The Alta has informed its readers from time to time, by reprinting private letters and newspaper comments, of the great patronage of this exhibit. The Eastern press, captivated by its novelty and merit has spread its fame to such an extent that Eastern railways contend with each other for the privilege of giving it the freedom of their lines, and cities compete with each other for the favor of a visit. Those that have not had a chance to see it feel slighted and set in motion measures to have it come to them.

Public school boards and teachers call for special days for school children to see it as an object lesson. Their pupils want to see how figs grow; they are curious about pomegranates, Japanese persimmons, dates, palm foliage, the citrus fruits, the root of the licorice plant, the silk cocoons and the lovely skeins reeled from them. They want to see the almond in its peach-like husk, the English walnut in its hull, and the great peaches, pears, plums, apricots, prunes and raisins are objects of curiosity, interest and instruction. How many thousands of Californians, happy in their sunny homes, there are, who trace their first determination to see this land to the impression made upon their minds in youth by the tales that were told about it around the winter fireside by the returned 'forty-niners!

But this is far from being all that the exhibit has accomplished. It has caught the keen eye of commerce. The manager writes back that he has been importuned thousands of times to take the orders of merchants for invoices of the articles shown in his great sample case. It is estimated that these orders, if it had been proper to take them, would have aggregated nearly a quarter of a million dollars. Yet the cost of keeping the exhibit in the field has been at the rate of less than $5,000 a year. Did California mercantile enterprise ever get a hint as significant at as little cost?

It was found that the exhibition car, being like everything else Californian on a broad measure, was too wide to pass the tunnels and bridges of many Eastern roads leading to where the people were clamorous to see it. Therefore, the present exhibit will close its career at the G. A. R. National Encampment at Milwaukee next month. After that its imperishable articles will be sent to form the nucleus of a permanent exhibit in Chicago, and the cars will be sent home.

Meantime, the Southern Pacific railroad having offered the free use and free transportation of two fine parlor cars, longer than the present one, and of a width that will pass all standard gauge tunnels and bridges, these will be artistically painted and fitted, and filled with an exhibit of more than twice the volume of the present one, to go on the road in November. It is proposed that one of them shall carry a complete wine exhibit, and may distribute the business cards of the firms which contribute to it. This will be, in effect, putting the State Wine Exchange on wheels, exhibiting our viatages to the Eastern market, which they are seeking to conquer. The expense to the Viticultural Association will be at the low rate of about $4,000 per year, and we can imagine no like expenditure that will make a more gratifying return. Complaint is made of depression in the wine trade. It is due to lack of control of the American market. If our vintners had that it would exhaust the juice of the last grape produced in this State at a good profit to grower and vintner. The investment in wine vineyards and wineries in California is $100,000,000. The East is crying out for pure wine and sound old brandy of domestic make. There is the demand. Here is the supply. It is idle to talk of letting the supply fail simply because the attention of the demand is not secured.

Let this fine car be loaded with ports hocks, clarets, sherries, angelicas and brandies. We have always believed that there is a great future in the colder East for our sweet wines. The owner of a port vineyard who can age his pure wine will never lack a market if he can only once establish a trade. The same may be confidently affirmed of our dry wines and champagnes. Californians who stay at home have no idea of the pride which our eastern friends feel in proving the quality and character of the vinous products of this State. All they want is a chance to offer our best vintages in evidence and they will take care of our market.

The fresh fruits which are being shipped now in many carloads per week find a better market than ever in the wake of California on Wheels. It will be the same with our wines.

Therefore, let us have no moping on the plea of depression in the wine trade. As Mr. Mills put it so well to the State Board of Trade, "Adversity is the mother of enterprise." Things are well done when they have to be done. The protection of an investment of $100,000,000 is lightly purchased for $4,000.

This new and larger exhibit will visit points that have not yet been reached. It will of necessity go to some that have already been its patrons. These will find it of increased excellence and therein will behold the exhaustless energy of our enterprising spirit.

When its mission on the road is finished, and it has to give way to a successor of perhaps four cars instead of two, its permanent stock will go to add to the stationary exhibit in Chicago, or to form the nucleus of another in New York or some far Eastern city.

So every season California will blow her own Horn of Plenty until trade and travel this way will be as natural as is now the shipping of Minnesota wheat to the Minneapolis mills.

The press of our own State has well deserved the thanks offered to it by the State Board of Trade. The country newspaper does more for the material advancement of California than any other press. The metropolitan journals are gorged with city scandal and gossip. The country paper is a fireside affair, and it carries broadcast the gossip of the field and orchard and vineyard. We would rather read of a new hybrid fruit which adds to commerce an article of profit, than of adultery in high life or low. And the cutting of great crops is more an object of human interest than the cutting of many throats.

The country press will in a moment catch the spirit which puts this larger and better exhibit of the novel materialities of California in the field, and will support it with zeal.—[S. F. Alta.

The Closing of an Important Outlet.

The blockade of a port is not more injurious to it commerce than is even the temporary obstruction of the bowels to the health of the system. Constipation necessarily arrests the secretion of bile, impedes and disorders digestion, and poisons the circulation. The safest and most effective, as it is also the most genial, laxative and anti-bilious medicine in existence is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and it is more than probable that its sovereign efficacy as a preventive and remedy for intermittent and remittent fever is largely due to its reformatory action upon the liver, an organ prejudiciary involved in all malarial complaints. Persons with a tendency also to rheumatic, neuralgic and kidney trouble cannot do better than to antagonize it with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which invariably checks it at the outset. The weak, moreover, are invested with strength by this fine invigorant.

SANTA MONICA.

Opening of the New Presbyterian Church—Tennis Tournament.

Today the new First Presbyterian Church was opened with impressive services, its early opening being renderde necessary by the fact that the chapel cannot now keep up with the seating demand. The dedicatory services will not, however, take place until the final completion of the church. The programme as carried out this morning was as follows: Voluntary, by Miss Griffin; Doxology invocation hymn, by the congregation; Scripture reading; prayer; "We Praise Thee, O God," by the choir; vocal solo, selected, by Miss Ellis; sermon, by the Rev. Jno. W. Ellis; vocal solo, by Miss Fellows; hymn by the congregation. In the evening the following exercises were rendered: "Light of the World," by the choir; Scripture reading; prayer; vocal solo, "The Palm Trees," J. A. Foshay; Scripture lessons; hymn, by the congregation; sermon, by Rev. Jno. W. Ellis; "Protect Us Through the Coming Night," by the choir.

In the reading-room of the Arcadia there assembled last night the Executive Committee of the Lawn Tennis Association of Southern California for the purpose of making arrangements for the annual tournament. Mr. Abbott Kinney presided and there were also present Messrs. Waring, W. A. Young, H. B. Lockwood and N. E. Swartout. The first business on hand was to elect a new Secretary, Mr. Saunders having gone to Seattle. Mr. N. E. Swartout was at once appointed to fill the honors and commenced his duties at once. It was decided to hold the tournament at the Casino during the week commencing the 19th of August, and the 17th of August was set as the date for the assembling of delegates. A Tournament Committee was then appointed consisting of Messrs. Waring, Young and Swartout and the programme was announced as follows: Gentlemen's singles, ladies' singles, gentlemen's doubles, ladies' doubles, all comers' singles, gentlemen's handicap singles, gentlemen's handicap doubles. The following clubs were then admitted into the organization: The Racket Club of Los Angeles and the Sierra Madre Tennis Club. The meeting then adjurned.

The ball at the Arcadia last night was better attended than has been any of the preceding hops, for the popularity of the dances increases with each one. Some very elegant costumes were worn, and, taken altogether, it was a very brilliant affair. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Plater, Miss Rowan, Mr. and Mrs. Glassett, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hall, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Spires, Mrs. Van Doren, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Russell, the Misses Whiteley, Captain and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Coakley, Messrs. D. McCool, Wheeler, Uthoff, C. P. Scott, Court Scott, H. W. Patton and John Lovel.

A prize fight took place last night at the back of a well-known sporting house here. The pugs were Young Abbott, of Los Angeles, and a negro named Joe. They fought Queensbury rules with hard gloves. Abbott had things all his own way, and knocked his man out in the third round with a terrible blow in the neck. The victor was challenged this morning by "Nigger Bob" to fight for $250 and the championship of Santa Monica. All are feather weights.

There was the biggest rush of the season here today. The Arcadia was crowded, and the bathhouses did an enormous business. On North Beach the open-air performances were given, much to the delight of the assembled thousands. Mr. Frank Ellis worked like a Trojan all day and kept things ship-shape.

Mr. Scott's new road to the beach was much patronized yesterday and was commented on as a great acquisition.

The Tenth-Street Hotel

A committee of 100 canvassers will at once take the field in order to test whether the people will back the big hotel or not. The proposition is to place 500 bonds of $300 each, to guarantee the payment of interest on $500,000 for five years. The $300 will be payable in ten installments of $30 each, or one every six months. There ought to be no difficulty in placing these bonds. Fuller particulars of the matter will be laid before the public at an early day.

FASHION NOTES.

Points for Ladies Concerning Their Attire.

Mrs. Mackay, of bonanza fame, has a gown with $50,000 worth of real pearls on it in the form of embroidery.

Jaunty, short-waisted, Eton jackets of colored silk with crossed and folded vests are in high favor.

The gilded youth now favors his lady-love with a flower epaulet instead of the customary box of roses. The lovely floral offering is worn on the left shoulder.

The newest coiffure decoration consists of fine braids of real hair set with bright jewels at intervals. These are wound around the head after the hair is dressed, after the fashion of Greek fillets.

Baptistes and foulards with orange grounds and black figures are subdued somewhat by the plentiful accessories of black moire. Though no end stylish and wonderfully becoming to fair and dark alike no woman of wisdom will venture upon one who has not twenty other dresses in her summer wardrobe.

The very smartest cotton shirts to be worn with tennis blazers have fronts starched, polished, and gotten up exactly like the masculine article. It takes a daring girl to appear in one, her less brave sister choosing the very popular and more feminine-looking fancy ones of silk or lace. With some of the latter the incroyable cravat or huge bow is worn. Again, others have some trimming arrangements down the front to make them look like a jacket.

The fragrant lengths of the floral boa are slowly reaching to our shores. Their costliness will probably account for their slowness in coming. To the violet boas that first presented themselves have been added exquisitely perfumed ones of roses, buttercups, daisies, and dainty, tender forget-me-nots. A strip of silk forms the foundation and the flowers are massed on it. Other summer boas for wear at lawn fetes and concerts are of soft silk, crepe, gauze or tulle.

Smart piazza wraps are luxuries of a wardrobe that no well-regulated young woman can afford to despise. Her shapely shoulders will acquire new grace beneath their soft, deftly-draped folds, while her skin will assume just the proper degree of glowing beauty if only the right shade is chosen to lie next to it. Matrons select visite-shaped models, with pagoda sleeves, and favor velvet for material and all the light tints of orthodox grays, blues, and pinks afford wide latitude as to color.

Never has ribbon in all widths and varieties been so immensely used as now. On many of the cotton gowns, ribbons are fastened under the armhole, carried across the back or front, crossing each other drawn close to the figure, in front tied in long loops and ends. The ribbons are from three to four inches wide. Epaulets formed of a ribbon carried around the top of the armhole and finished off with a coquettish bow are on both day and evening bodices. These are particularly suited to the babyish-looking, low empire waists for young girls.

The following is a description of a grand prix toilet that was a model of originality if not of beauty: The wonderful redingote was of striped sicilienne in stripes of pale green and yellow. This opened over a front of pale green silk muslin embroidered with polka dots of coffee color. The bodice portion of this muslin was full and draped with creamy Mechlin lace. The wide-brimmed hat of yellow straw was covered with nodding ostrich tips of pale green. The big buttons of the redingote were of gold. The long gloves of yellow silk were embroidered on the backs with pale green. The stockings matched and the yellow shoes had heels of green leather.

There are two events, apart from the exposition, about which all Paris is gossiping. Even the thousands of visitors know of and are interested in one of these, which promises to be more than a nine days' wonder. This is the purchase of a petticoat, a bona fide petticoat, which was an indescribable combination of silk, flowers and lace, and for which was paid the fabulous sum of 15,000 francs. Rumor has it that it was purchased by an American Crœsus, and Frenchmen are congratulating themselves that their countrywomen, however eccentric, never tempted themselves to commit such a piece of extravagance. The Crœsus may have some trouble with the customs on his arrival in America, as the flowers and lace are put on this now celebrated petticoat in such profusion that a suspicion of smuggling may involuntarily find room in the mind of the matter of fact officer. But the purchaser will no doubt be able to prove his honesty of purpose of importing the articles. This petticoat, which actually was sold for the sum named above, is but an exaggerated sample of those now worn by women of wealth and fashion.—[Philadelphia Times.

The flannel shirt is a mockery, a delusion and a snare. It gives to the wearer the outward appearance of a tough and disreputable person. It imparts to his feelings a perpetual heat and irritation. It scratches his neck. It clings woolily about his wrists. But more and worse than all this, it exercises a distinctly demoralizing influence upon him. Before he has worn it an hour, he begins to experience a thirst for beer, and visions of cool cellars and foam-topped schooners tempt him. The friction of the flannel on his throat, moreover, has occult and sinister effects. It eliminates responsibility. It causes the victim of the flannel shirt to feel that he is only fit for a 'longshoreman's work; that he ought to have a short pipe in his mouth or his hatband; that he has a secret affinity with water-front saloons. Doubtless a man may fight well enough in a flannel shirt, or he may fish, or cut bait, or loaf in the grass; but he cannot invite his soul when so clad with any hope of adequate response. No, the ideal summer dress does not include, nor is it based upon, the flannel shirt. That ideal calls for coolness, softness of texture and absorbant capacity. There is nothing which surpasses the cool freshness of clean linen, and but for the baleful starch which testifies to the triumph of stupid conventionalism over common sense, it is plain that the linen garment offers the most hopeful foundation for that summer costume of the future which the coming race will wear.—[New York Tribune.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

In this as in every other locality where it is known, there are hundreds of persons who are taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. To those we want to say one word. In nine cases out of every ten it is effecting specific cures. But word comes to us occasionally of people who report that it operates too freely upon the bowels. We want to call the attention of those to the fact that they are not following the printed instructions and are taking too much of it. If it acts too freely reduce the dose, never taking any more at any time than causes easy and perfect action. Keep this injunction in mind, and take it regularly for a while and do not indulge in too much greasy food, and we will have your testimonial within a fortnight. If taken under these conditions it is an absolute cure for indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headaches, constipation, face eruptions and liver and kidney disorders. It may be asked how it can possibly cure so many ailments. But the reason is clear. All those troubles are the legitimate result of improper liver and kidney action or impaired digestive organs. Its effects upon those functions are as astonishing to the medical fraternity as to the thousands who are daily taking it.

DR. M. HILTON WILLIAMS,
M. D., M. C. P. S. O.,
Specialist in all the various diseases of the Head, Throat and Chest,
Including the Eye Ear and Heart, together with DISEASES OF FEMALES,
OFFICE:
In the Hollenbeck Block, cor. Spring and Second Sts., Los Angeles, Cal.
Oxygen, Compound Oxygen, Nitrous Oxide, and other inhalations, used in all DISEASES OF THE LUNGS.
We have introduced the COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT with our systems of practice in the cure of Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption Dyspepsia, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration, while only the most improved methods are employe in all female complaints

As is well known, oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe and ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunderstorms. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, tear off collars, loosen the waist, and call for a fan to displace the stifling and bring fresher air or more oxygen. Traveling is done mainly to resorts where the air contains more oxygen, and mountains are ascended to breathe the ozone, which is light and ascends from the earth.

Oxygen and ozone are gases, and must be stored up and used by inhaling them. Our apparatus for storing and having these gases, compounded with other suitable agents, is perfect; and, although they are not a cure-all, yet they are undoubtedly the greatest invention made in the last 20 years in any department of medicine, and the results are truly wonderful.

Oxygen acts by purifying the blood, thereby increases the circulation, promotes absorption, improves digestion and assimilation, increases the capability of the lungs, and acts as a gentle stimulant to the nervous system.

The London, England, Lancet, very truthfully says: "The Compound Oxygen treatment is the greatest discovery of the Nineteenth Century." Clergymen, statesmen, lawyers, doctors, and all classes indiscriminately, wherever it is introduced, both use and recommend it.

The testimonials given below are very fair samples as to the time required for effecting cures in these troublesome diseases:

Dr. Williams—DEAR SIR: I am happy to say that the cure you effected in me for a severe case of throat disease has proved to be permanent. For over a year I was troubled with post-nasal catarrh and granulated throat disease, and had done so much for it that I had but little hopes of ever being cured, when I first went to you, but you gave me such positive assurance that you could cure me that I began your treatment, and in four months from that time you discharged me as cured, and I am happy to say the cure was a permanent thing in every particular up to the present time, which is now over a year. Yours very truly, MRS. LUCY H. TRASK,
809 South Olive street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Dr. M. Hilton Williams—DEAR SIR: I have been contemplating for some time past making a statement of my case and the benefit I have derived from your treatment, remembering how glad I would have been could I have seen something of the kind from a person in the city, to whom I could have referred, when first came to Los Angeles from my home New York State.

I had been suffering for several years with what various physicians in the East pronounced "chronic ulcerated laryngitis." I spent considerable time at the Clifton Sanitarium, and employed the best medical skill I could find, all without any permanent benefit, and as a last resort our family physician recommended Los Angeles. For a time I improved, and then I began to go backward and all my former symptoms returned.

Through a medial friend I was induced to try your treatment. I became very much discouraged at times, but persevered, as I felt almost desperate and knew of nothing else to turn to. My throat trouble being aggravated by a serious stomach difficulty, made it very obstinate to deal with, but at last, after persevering for a time with your remedies, I consider I am permanently cured. If this will be of any value to you, you are at perfect liberty to use it; also to refer anyone to my mother, my husband or myself. Very truly yours,
MRS. J. D. WILEY,
Los Angeles, Cal.
